

Inspiration on Green Mountain

Huntsville, Alabama

portfolio

Sustainable design is an innovated approach to community development. The premise is that there are limited natural and man made resources at our disposal. 4Site is aware of the constraints of land and resources and worked diligently with Love Development Group to minimize the environmental impacts this new community would have on Green Mountain and the surrounding area. The result is a community that is conscientiously placed upon the landscape while still meeting the economic requirements of the project.
