

Oak Alley Master Plan

Huntsville, Alabama

portfolio

Located west of the Huntsville city limits, Oak Alley is a new community that is located on the site of a former plantation near the town of Mooresville. The plan calls for creating a village-like atmosphere. A village center is designed for mixed use, live/work townhome units with a central green space are planned that cater to pedestrians, while still being conducive to vehicular travel.

The balance of the community is designed for residential neighborhoods with a variety of homes. The houses would be similar in architectural style to those found in the historic neighborhoods of the south.
